The Annual Report 2017-18 traces the journey of the University during the past academic year. The year witnessed the initial steps towards realizing the strategic goal of 2018-2021 — “To emerge as a world-class University of eminence through performance and differentiation”.

I place on record my deep appreciation for the faculty, staff, students, alumni, parents and well-wishers who have contributed towards making the year a fulfilling one. Let us continue with our unwavering commitment and strive towards achieving the Vision and Mission of the University.

Dr Fr George Edayadiyil CMI

Message From the VICE CHANCELLOR

It is important for us to acknowledge our progress in striving towards achieving the strategic goal of emerging as a World Class University, through two strategies of excellence in 'performance' and 'differentiation' in existence and contribution, thereby marking a distinct competitive advantage. From its humble beginnings on 15 July 1969 to what it has grown today, Christ Deemed to Be University has been a story of dreams and inspiration. I humbly thank everyone who has been involved with the University for the same.

Christ Deemed to Be University is an institution that nurtures curiosity, inspires the commitment to build sustainable communities, provide innovative learning and experiential environment for the new-age learners, including the students and the staff. It strives towards intellectual and emotional balance wherein the individual transforms through a holistic process.

It has been a privilege to be a part of innumerable projects, ideas and creative pursuits. Every day has been new and refreshing, challenging and meaningful owing to new ideations.

The Annual Report 2017–18 provides the details of the activities and achievements of the University during the academic year. Let the past year light the lamps for the roads ahead so that we lead and continue to be led by the light of wisdom and compassion. I congratulate the efforts of the teams at the Office of Registrar and the Centre for Publications in compiling this Report.

Dr Fr Thomas C Mathew

Vice Chancellor

1. REGISTRAR'S REPORT

Students of CU-BGR Campus are also continuously motivated to participate in all Sports Tournaments in Basketball, Cricket, Football, Tennis and Athletics in the Main Campus and in other inter-collegiate and inter-university tournaments around the country, where they have won numerous championships and competitions. Our University always believes in not just providing a space for students to discover and hone their various talents, but also interact with their talented peers to instigate new and creative collaborations. And hence, CU-BGR Campus has kept alive and more, the 'festing' culture, and through the various ingenuous fests, offers cultural platforms to the students to thrive and flourish. The Christ University Business Studies and Social Sciences Association (CUBSA) that functions under the aegis of CU-BGR Campus is instrumental to a great extent in encouraging and promoting students to explore and showcase their talents, get into the culture of knowledge application, and hone their skills by managing them through co-curricular and extra-curricular activities.

This year CUBSA successfully flagged off Querencia, the National-Level, Multi disciplinary, MegaFest of CU-BGR Campus. Entailing a diversity that is one of a kind and a vision that is far more sighted than any other event witnessed in the world of festing, Querencia celebrated the reality of collaboration in competition thereby moving towards bridging disciplines from across colleges and universities in the country. Through Querencia, CUBSA was able to offer a common arena to individuals from across disciplines to gather together and exhibit their talents.

The Campus came alive with a plethora of discipline-specific fests, be it Arthotsav of Economics Studies, Gobblefunk of English Studies, Raabta of Media Studies, Aaroha of Psychology Studies, and Dialogue of History and Political Science, from within the sphere of Social Sciences. The Cell also conducts Certificate Programmes in collaboration with prominent organisations like KE Global to give students a different perspective on how to shape their business thoughts and further enable them in an all-round development. Fests, like Bob the Builder, a bid and build competition and the Marketing fest, Marketon offered good opportunities for students to come up with different business plans and get hands-on real-life experience in the business-world. This year, the Cell organized the first edition of The Speakers'

Conclave, a flagship event that focused on offering a platform to pioneer speakers from different walks of life to share the stories of their journeys. Of these, Darpan was organized as the first deanery-level talent hunt event for the students in the Campus. Organized by the Student Welfare Office (SWO) of the Campus, Darpan was an "ice-breaker" especially for the First-Year Students by exposing them to the University culture of not just nurturing but also celebrating talent. Darpan was followed in a similar vein by Blossoms, the inter-deanery fest that fostered strong bonds of camaraderie within the Campus, considering how the entirety of School of Business Studies and Social Sciences was in competition against the other deaneries in the national-level, inter university fest, In-bloom. Centre for Social Action (CSA)

CHRIST (Deemed to be University), since its inception 1969, has strived for using 'education as a tool for development'. This concept has and will continue to contribute to the institute's growth to greater heights. CSA, which began in 1999, is the centre that is spearheading this mission to its fullest. CSA has been promoting volunteerism and enabling students to develop as socially responsible citizens by involving them in social development initiatives both in campuses and marginalized communities. It envisioned that every student will be aware, sensitive and empathetic and contribute to sustainable changes in society. Apart from student programmes, child-centered and integrated development initiatives in urban, rural and tribal areas and waste management efforts, this year witnessed new activities. They include: Rural Exposure Camps Visits: Being a strategically important programme, this is conducted as an attempt to make social responsibility a culture among all students in the University by exposing them to the socio-economic and cultural situations of the rural communities and students are involved in the socio-economic development of these marginalized areas.

During the year, 39 rural visits for students, CSA volunteers and faculty and members of international institutes were conducted in places like Hoskote, Srinivasapura and urban slums. Around 2200 students and faculty participated in these visits. The international institutions were VID University, Zurich University, Han University, Bodo University and University Studies Abroad Consortium (USAC). Some of these students interned in CSA. Campus Based Activities: CSA volunteers conducted a discussion on "Patriot or a Global Citizen: Which way is the right way?", Sustainability Week and Social Responsibility Week. Through the discussions and events, the students deliberated on issues of hunger, climate change, sustainability, exclusiveness, health and environmental degradation. Events like talks, workshops and poetry marked the occasions and several non-governmental organizations contributed to their learning. The students internalized social responsibility values as a result.

Through the Prayatna programme, the CSA volunteers set up stalls on a monthly basis in the campus. Products from the rural areas and the handmade recycled paper products produced by the campus based and poor women run production unit are displayed and sold. The income generated is given to the farmers and the producers. This way the institute is assisting the farmers and producers in accessing a direct market for their produce. Besides, their incomes don't land in the hands of the middle men.

BRIDGE Programme: A collaboration effort with Bosch India Foundation, the BRIDGE (Bosch's Response to India's Development and Growth through Employability Enhancement) The Programme is aimed at ensuring the employability of unprivileged school dropout youth between the ages of 18 and 25 who are not in education, employment or training (youth in the NEET category). The BRIDGE centre is in the main campus and during this year, 85 youngsters from Bangalore's slums were trained. 75 students have been placed in jobs with salaries ranging from Rs 9000 to Rs. 13000 per month. Unnat Bharat Abhiyan (UBA) Project: This is a Central Government project which began in August 2017. It aims at linking together higher education institutions and rural areas to develop the rural areas holistically with the help of the knowledge and skills of higher education institutions and the rural communities.

CSA volunteers and CU students were involved in the six project villages in Hoskote Taluk, Bangalore Rural District. They conducted village and household surveys, entered the data obtained, consolidated the findings and supported in developing the village development plans. They conducted skits, theme based songs and dances, tableaux and street theatre about smokeless chulhas (stoves), need for establishing women's cooperative banks, importance of education and need for environmental protection.

Launch of New Socio-Economic Development Projects: After systematic surveys and design of socioeconomic development projects, two projects, supported by Bishops Conference of Italy (BCI) were launched in Ghaziabad and Janakiram Layout slum in Bangalore. The projects are designed to develop the children and their communities through education, promotion of community based organizations and livelihood programmes.

The centre initiated an academic audit with an external agency (TUV Rheinland India Pvt. Ltd.) for the department of computer science to identify the avenues for enhancing the academic activities. As a process to improve the quality of curriculum offered by various programs, feedback was collected from different stakeholders (Student, Teacher, Alumni, Industry and Parent) that help in bridging the academic gap. To enhance the research culture among the students, the cell initiated student faculty collaborative research publication fee reimbursement.
