Sir has been a great support and source of knowledge to all of us. There were certainly a lot of ups and downs that came in the journey of acquiring knowledge, where we have lost our way to reach the desired goals, but he always had our back and taught us how to learn from our mistake and make our success much more brighter. He also made us understand success just helps us to boost our confidence but failures actually help us understand how can we get better everyday. With that he made sure that we learn and gain knowledge at every step that we take which will further help us grow in our respective careers.
