City history & details	The hub of Information Technology, the 'byte basket' of India; these are the phrases that define Bangalore or Bengaluru, the capital of Karnataka, a southern state of India. Bengaluru is sometimes referred to as the "Silicon Valley of India" (or "IT capital of India") because of its role as the nation's leading information technology (IT) exporter. A demographically diverse city, Bangalore is the second fastest-growing major metropolis in India. It is home to many educational and research institutions in India, such as Indian Institute of Science (IISc), Indian Institute of Management (Bangalore) (IIMB), National Institute of Fashion Technology, Bangalore, National Institute of Design, Bangalore (NID R&D Campus), National Law School of India University (NLSIU) and National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS). Numerous state-owned aerospace and defence organisations, such as Bharat Electronics, Hindustan Aeronautics and National Aerospace Laboratories are located in the city. The city also houses the Kannada film industry. The rapidly growing multi-ethnic city is preferred by most of the people because of its salubrious weather, the landscaped gardens, natural and artificial lakes, huge shopping malls, skyscrapers, multi-cuisine restaurants and pubs.
