Unnati G Hunjan

Unnati Hunjan is a psychologist and animal-assisted therapist. She actively pursues research work in the field neuropsychology and attempts to study the effect of animal-assisted therapy on various aspects of neuropsychological functioning, which is also her focus in PhD.

She has facilitated various workshops and lectures related to AAI at national and international platforms. Some of her recent presentations were at Miami University and IAHAIO conference in New York. Currently, she is working with and studying therapy dogs, cats and horses, but hopes to incorporate other animals too in the near future.

She is the founder and director of Therapeutic Paws, an organization aimed at establishing the field of Animal-Assisted Interventions in India, providing ethical standards of practice and certifications.
