BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE MEETING:

A total of 60 Alumni from various batches, starting from the 1998 batch to the most recent 2021 batch, attended the online meeting. The meeting started with a silent prayer followed by the warm welcome by Prof. Paul KT, HOD, Prof. George Thomas, Dean of Science, and Prof. Chandrashekar, former head of department. Dr. Arun Kenath hosted the meeting and presented the department's brief overview and recent achievements. He also presented the future plans for the academic and research progress of the department. The majority of the alumni members were really impressed hearing the growth of the department and send wishes, and appreciate the achievements verbally and through online chat. Later, interested alumni were given an opportunity to share their experiences about campus life during their studying days. Alumni also interacted with the teachers who have taught them and shared their most cherished memories about how our department's teachers helped build their successful careers. Mr. Kartik from 2004 batch also provided very useful suggestions about opening an alumni forum where each alumnus can readily connect and assist each other for professional and personal development. Dr. Kenath immediately acted upon it and opened a department's Facebook page, and shared the link in the meeting. For the fun time, we had organized quizzes oriented toward their knowledge about the university, during which everyone participated and provided their interesting feedback. Few of them also shared their most difficult times in the university and how they overcame that to complete their degree.

After the announcement that Prof. Kunjomana is retiring this year, everyone shared their wishes and showered the words of well-deserved appreciation. The meeting was ended with the pledge to remain connected forever with the department and facilitate progress whenever needed. Dr. Kenath delivered the vote of thanks in the end.
