

School of Business and Management

September 05, 2020

Teacher's day celebration was a one-of-a-kind event, conducting it on a virtual platform, though, seemed challenging, was an enthralling experience. The teachers were warmed by beautiful personalized cards that were sent to them in their respective languages. A beautiful poster signifying the relevance of the event was also circulated among the students. There was a plethora of events that were designed for signifying the gratitude of students to teachers for their unstoppable dedication, relentless commitment, and endless efforts. In addition to the event being an extravaganza, it was also an educative and an information- oriented event, urging all the audience to take care of their health amidst these testing times. The events for the day were as follows: The live event was broadcasted to all professors and students at 3:00 pm.

The event was guided by the University Student Council members and driven by the elected School Level Student Council members. The emcees for the event were Sushmita Samudralla and Praveeth Shetty, School Level Student Council members. The event began with a warm welcome address by Abhishek Sudan, School University Student Council member, followed by a pre-recorded music performance by the 1 st year students of the MBA department Kengeri campus.

The event proceeded with a pre-recorded art presentation by one of the students from the MBA department, showing her gratitude towards all our professors and wishing them a happy teacher's day. We presented a pre-recorded yoga video with the attendees of our event, portrayed by a student of the MBA department, enlightening us with her knowledge of yoga and why it is essential for us to stay fit and healthy. Then we showcased a power-packed performance of the dance team, which was a pre-recorded video consisting of students from the MBA department; they portrayed the cultural diversity we celebrate at Christ University. The event was then followed with the University Choir performance.

We were then blessed and proud to present a video of renowned actor Mr. Sonu Sood addressing to all our professors and wishing them on this wonderful occasion. The event then came to an end with the video of end credits, thanking all the University and School Level Student Council members, the editors who helped us come up with such lovely videos, the students who helped us make the event a success. The event concluded by a vote of thanks delivered by Kevin Joel School Level Student Council member. The event was a successful one. It went on smoothly without any technical glitches