

Seminar on Human Resource Development Systems

The Department of Social Work conducted a seminar on Human Resources Development systems on 25th July 2013 from 10 am to 1 pm. It was attended by students of Psychology, Sociology, Business Management and Social Work specializing in Human Resource Management. The speakers consisted of Mr. Suresh Michael from Bharat Electricals Limited; Mr. C R Murali from Institute of Leadership Development and; and Mr. Praveen Kamath from Wipro Technologies. Mr. Michael and Mr. Murali focused on Human Resource Development systems. While Mr. Michael focused on Human Resource Development systems and their evolution in BEL over the past 19 years, Mr. Murali was able to provide a more macro perspective of HRD systems currently existing in industry. Mr. Kamath focused on the changing face of industry today-incorporating globalization and the need for added skills like language, additional software, analytical skills, etc for improving one's professional profile. Each speaker was allotted one hour and they welcomed questions from the audience. All the three speakers encouraged interactive sessions. The seminar provided valuable practical knowledge of Human Resource Development systems and was enjoyed by all.
