Synopsis of the Activity (Description)

Highlights of the Activity	The session was conducted by Mr. Sree Kumar Nair, Senior Librarian, Christ University, Bangalore Central Campus. Focus was on research resources available through the Christ University Library and how to effectively use them. Demonstration of Open Policy Finder (Sherpa Romeo) – a tool for checking journal open access policies. Introduction to Unpaywall, enabling free access to legally available open access articles. Guidance on requesting research articles through DOI submission and request protocols. Overview of Similarity Check Guidelines for thesis and research submissions. Hands-on insights on using Summon Discovery Service for unified search across physical and digital resources.

	Introduction to Knimbus, a remote access platform for library resources. Step-by-step guide to configuring Google Scholar with Christ University Library Links. Contact information and dedicated support emails for account activation, similarity check, and research assistance were shared.
Key Takeaways	Researchers can make informed decisions about self-archiving and open access publishing through Sherpa Romeo. Unpaywall provides a practical and legal way to bypass paywalls, saving both time and cost. Importance of planning research article requests in advance due to processing time and availability. Adhering to similarity check guidelines ensures academic integrity in thesis submissions. Summon and Knimbus provide comprehensive access to digital and physical resources, both on and off campus. Configuring Google Scholar with institutional access maximizes resource availability and ease of research. Direct channels of communication with the library team enable smooth access to support services.
Summary of the Activity	The session provided a comprehensive orientation on the effective use of Christ University Library resources for enhancing research quality and accessibility. Participants were introduced to critical tools such as Sherpa Romeo, Unpaywall, Summon, Knimbus, and Google Scholar, along with institutional guidelines for article requests and similarity checks. The resource person emphasized the importance of open access, proper research planning, and compliance with academic integrity standards. The activity equipped participants with both practical skills and strategic knowledge to streamline their research journey and make full use of the university's library support systems.

Key Feedback	• Participants appreciated the session, describing it as excellent, informative, and relevant. • A few participants suggested that the session should have been more hands-on in nature. • Some respondents recommended conducting such sessions during coursework and extending time for case-specific discussions. • The majority of the feedback indicated satisfaction, with several responses marked as "None" or "No improvements required."
Action Taken, if any	The suggestion to include hands-on components will be considered for future sessions, allowing participants to practice tools and resources in real time. Based on recommendations, future workshops will be scheduled during coursework timelines to ensure better integration with the research journey of the scholars. Additional time will be allotted for Q&A and case-specific discussions to enhance engagement.

Impact Analyses and Action Taken

The session successfully enhanced participants' awareness of library resources, research tools, and open access platforms.

Scholars reported finding the session informative and highly relevant to their academic needs.

Constructive feedback highlights the potential to increase practical learning outcomes through hands-on demonstrations.

Incorporating participant suggestions in future sessions is expected to improve effectiveness, engagement, and application of learning in research activities.
