Student Feedback

The student feedback gathered aimed to assess whether the curriculum of their academic program effectively supports the identification of business opportunities and challenges, ultimately fostering the development of business ideas. The responses were generally satisfactory, indicating that students find the curriculum beneficial in multiple aspects.

Students acknowledged that the program provides fundamental knowledge and methodologies that help them recognize business opportunities and challenges. The majority of students found that the curriculum aligns well with its stated objectives and learning outcomes. The structured coursework and practical assignments contribute to the overall understanding of key business concepts, ensuring that learning goals are met effectively.

Feedback suggested that while the curriculum covers essential business concepts, there is scope for the inclusion of more advanced topics such as emerging business technologies, digital transformation, and global market strategies. Some students recommended an expansion in specialized courses to cater to evolving industry needs.

The BBA Fintech students had some comments which stated that the course name includes Analytics but there were no subjects dealing with Mathematics and Statistics in the syllabus. Further some students had suggestions that it focussed on Science and Technology more. In BBA MSM some students suggested that choice of major and minor should be provided before second year.

The general feedback from students was satisfactory, reflecting a positive perception of the curriculum's effectiveness. While the curriculum meets most academic and professional needs, students suggested minor enhancements in the inclusion of advanced topics, updated materials, and additional practical applications to further strengthen their learning experience.

Action Taken

The curriculum feedback from students was collected and analysed to enhance the academic structure. The overall feedback was satisfactory, with some minor revisions suggested for improvement. Based on the feedback, Mathematics and Statistics-related subjects have been incorporated into the syllabus to align with the "Analytics" component of the course. The curriculum has been reviewed to enhance the integration of Science and Technology-related topics.

All the above suggestions were discussed and approved by the Curriculum Development Committee (CDC) and subsequently introduced in the Board of Studies (BOS) for implementation.

Teachers Feedback

The feedback collected from teachers regarding the curriculum, showed satisfactory remarks across all aspects, with minimal suggestions for improvement. Teachers expressed general satisfaction with the curriculum structure and content. No significant concerns were raised about the course delivery or learning outcomes. The positive aspects noted were, Well-structured curriculum covering relevant topics. Effective teaching methodologies aligning with learning objectives. The only suggestion for improvement was identified in the Fintech course, an introduction to Excel could be introduced in the 1st Semester to enhance students' analytical and practical skills at an early stage.

Action Taken

The actions taken in response to the feedback collected from teachers regarding the curriculum. The feedback was overall satisfactory, with a key suggestion to introduce an Excel module in the Fintech course during the 1st Semester. The curriculum committee reviewed the feasibility of integrating an Introduction to Excel module in the 1st Semester of the Fintech course. This suggestion has further been added by the BOS. The suggested modification to the Fintech course has been successfully implemented. Continuous monitoring and feedback collection will be conducted to ensure the effectiveness of this enhancement and address any future curriculum needs.

Alumni Feedback

The alumni feedback for the curriculum of various BBA programs at CHRIST (Deemed to be University), Delhi NCR (SBM) for 2024–25 reflects overall satisfaction with both academic structure and its industry relevance. A substantial majority of respondents either "agreed" or "strongly agreed" that the curriculum is regularly updated (92.9%) and effectively orients students towards higher education (100%). Additionally, more than 80% of alumni agreed that the curriculum provides good employability weightage and encourages research and development. These responses indicate that the program design resonates well with current academic and professional demands.

However, while responses related to industry expectations and real-life application were positive, only around 46.4% "strongly agreed" that the curriculum meets these benchmarks, with others agreeing or remaining neutral. Suggestions included enhancing real-life applicability and improving faculty delivery in some areas. A few alumni also expressed a desire to reduce the attendance requirement. These insights highlighted the need to bridge the curriculum further with real-world experiences and continue improving pedagogical quality.

Action Taken

Based on alumni input, the Curriculum Development Committee (CDC) held a review session to address concerns and suggestions. The committee proposed increasing the number of industry case studies, simulations, and collaborative projects to improve real-life application. Additionally, a recommendation was made to upskill faculty through regular training programs to ensure that the delivery of courses matches the curriculum's depth and intent. The suggestion to reconsider the attendance policy was discussed, though it was decided to retain the current norm while offering more flexibility through blended learning support.

These proposals were discussed and formally approved in the subsequent Board of Studies (BOS) meeting. It was agreed to embed modules focused on industry readiness and entrepreneurial exposure in the curriculum. BOS also endorsed the inclusion of alumni as resource persons in workshops and webinars to create a feedback-rich ecosystem. These actions reflect the institution's commitment to incorporating alumni perspectives through structured governance mechanisms and ensuring continuous curriculum improvement.

Employers Feedback

The employer feedback on the BBAG, BBAFT, BBAH, BBASBA, and BBAFMA programs at CHRIST (Deemed to be University) for the academic year 2024–25 reveals a positive outlook on curriculum design and relevance. A majority (75%) of respondents affirmed that the curriculum successfully satisfies the stated learning objectives and outcomes, while 50% noted that it supports independent thinking among graduates. The curriculum was also rated highly in terms of enhancing subject knowledge (62.5%) and facilitating real-life application (75%), which indicates that the academic design is aligned with industry expectations and practical competencies.

Furthermore, 75% of the employers recognized the inclusion of research-oriented aspects in teaching, and 62.5% agreed that the curriculum meets academic benchmarks. General comments also reflect appreciation for the curriculum's blend of finance and technology, and its practical applicability. These responses indicate a well-balanced program that prepares students for contemporary business environments. However, the slight variations in agreement percentages suggest scope for further enhancing innovation, research exposure, and cross-disciplinary training, especially in areas like emerging tech and soft skills.

Action Taken

The feedback from employers was formally reviewed in the Curriculum Development Committee (CDC) meeting, where key suggestions were discussed—particularly the importance of maintaining a strong practical orientation and integrating advanced tools used in industry. Based on the insights, the CDC recommended deeper integration of real-time business analytics, fintech tools, and industry certification modules within relevant courses. The committee also suggested mapping electives to emerging areas identified by employers, such as digital finance and innovation management.

These recommendations were then presented and ratified in the subsequent Board of Studies (BOS) meeting. The BOS approved updates in course content and endorsed collaborations with industry experts for guest lectures and live projects. Action points from the BOS include aligning assessments with real-world problem-solving, enhancing research-led teaching in capstone projects, and fostering student internships to ensure experiential learning. These measures highlight the institution's commitment to a dynamic, industry-responsive curriculum that reflects stakeholder input in its academic governance process.

Due to high strictness of christ university, atttanced and book chapters or research paper is not help in student currier. For undergraduate students it not compulsory for books chapter and research paper and it very useless. For compulsory of 85%attendance it very useless.The word top University there is compulsory of attendance and there is practically course. There should be all 4 staturday off so that students can explore outside and learn.

General Comments and Suggestions: *

In the 5th semester, for finance specialisation students, some courses did not have a faculty member for a particular amount of time. The suggestion is to have the right faculty at the right place and at the right time so that the course can start early on. This also helps students in understanding concepts and it gives us the time to prepare and understand the course plan.

The curriculam being followed is appropriate until we talk about LCA course as they are good in some subject but it also leads to bias decesion of faculty which can lead to decrease in students GPA otherwise everything is based according to the course

General Comments and Suggestions: *

The curriculum is great so far for a final year student, but the material should be provided for better understanding of it. Such as current articles, books, videos and other such relevant content should be provided by the faculty or at least should be suggested. I am so far quite satisfied with the curriculum and I sincerely thank the team who curated this curriculum.

General Comments and Suggestions: *

There are a lot of points which need to be improved about the course, such as the course curriculum, syllabus, CIA topics and there relevance to modern day business landscape, skill development and enhancement that would increase employability prospects. The course should be revised and revamped considering that employability post completing the 3 year degree is an important consideration for a lot of students.

The curriculum would be better if there were more industrial visits, instead of just one in two years; Courses like corporate law could have been made LCA instead of corporate accounting; LCA courses in general take off a little burden and should be continued in 3rd year as well

General Comments and Suggestions: *

Evaluation should be less biased & highly focused on the rubric, subjects/courses should be critically enhancing for the developing career of the student, single technical/hard skill should be focused on instead of multiple of them at the beginner level, industrial visits (or any such outbound training programs) should be increased, students could be incentivised in any kind to develop a better participation in both class & extracurriculars, teachers/staff/faculty coordinators should be more involved in the operations of student run bodies (clubs, committees, etc), more options to choose a subject/course per semester (be it swayam course or normal class with credits) would be appreciated

General Comments and Suggestions: *

The curriculum is very outdated and does not promote holistic development. Only one or two subject gives us relevant information rest everything is not important. The curriculum needs to focus more on practicality instead of theoretical knowledge.

No

The course name as it suggests is Fintech but it does not include the most necessary subjects like Maths and Statistics. The course is based on Management mainly instead it should focus on Finance and Technology more. The faculty is okay but their teaching methods need to be changed a little. 1 year has 2 semesters but the first semester was ended in the fourth month only, this reduces the time that the student gets to imbibe the knowledge fully.

Nice.

Na

If we can learn it from the core. And how it works in real world

naa

Think on restructuring the curriculum to make it more industry relevant.

All good

Financial management should be improved
