Synopsis of the Activity (Description)

Highlights of the Activity	● Dr. Hoimawati outlined the importance of a well-organized proposal with clear sections, including the introduction, literature review, research objectives, questions, methodology, and significance of the study. ● She emphasized that the proposal should demonstrate both originality and academic rigor, helping readers see the value and impact of the research. ● Good research questions should be aligned with the objectives and provide insight into the core issues of the study.
	● A well-articulated thesis statement provides the central argument or claim of the study. Dr. Hoimawati mentioned that the thesis statement must be clear, concise, and reflective of the research focus.
Key Takeaways	● Clarity and Precision: Avoid ambiguity and keep the focus sharp. ● Alignment: Ensure objectives, questions, and thesis statement align throughout the proposal. ● Focus on Contribution: Emphasize how the research fills a gap or contributes to the field. ● Plan Methodically: Have a well-thought-out structure, ensuring smooth transitions between sections. ● Revise and Refine: Regular revisions will enhance the quality and coherence of the proposal.
Summary of the Activity	Dr. Hoimawati's session provided practical insights into crafting effective research proposals. She emphasized aligning research objectives, questions, and gaps with the thesis statement to ensure clarity and coherence. Key strategies included developing specific and measurable objectives, framing open-ended research questions, and identifying gaps through thorough literature reviews. She also stressed the importance of precise language, logical flow, and regular revisions to communicate the research focus effectively, ensuring the proposal highlights the study's originality and contribution.

EVENT REPORT

Event Name : Writing Research PropoSal

Venue : A420, A Block

Date : 20 September, 2024

Time : 2:30 pm to 3:30 pm

Event Coordinators : Dr. Tanupriya

Participants : PhD scholars of the Department of English and Cultural Studies

The Department of English and Cultural Studies recently organized an engaging and highly informative workshop on Writing Research Proposal conducted by Dr. Hoimawati Talukdar, Assistant Professor, Department of English and Cultural Studies, CHRIST (Deemed to be University) Delhi NCR

Dr. Hoimawati's session on writing research proposals provided valuable strategies for developing clear and effective proposals. She emphasized the importance of aligning research objectives, questions, and gaps with the thesis statement to maintain coherence and focus. Objectives should be specific, measurable, and achievable, while research questions must be open-ended to allow in-depth exploration. She highlighted the need to identify research gaps through a thorough literature review, not just to point out missing areas but to show how the study addresses them. Dr. Hoimawati also stressed that the thesis statement should reflect the core argument and connect seamlessly with the research objectives and questions. She provided tips on using precise language and ensuring a logical flow between sections to help communicate the research purpose clearly. Regular revisions were recommended to enhance quality. Overall, the session focused on developing proposals that highlight originality and contribution to the field while maintaining academic rigor.

Major Takeaways of the Event:

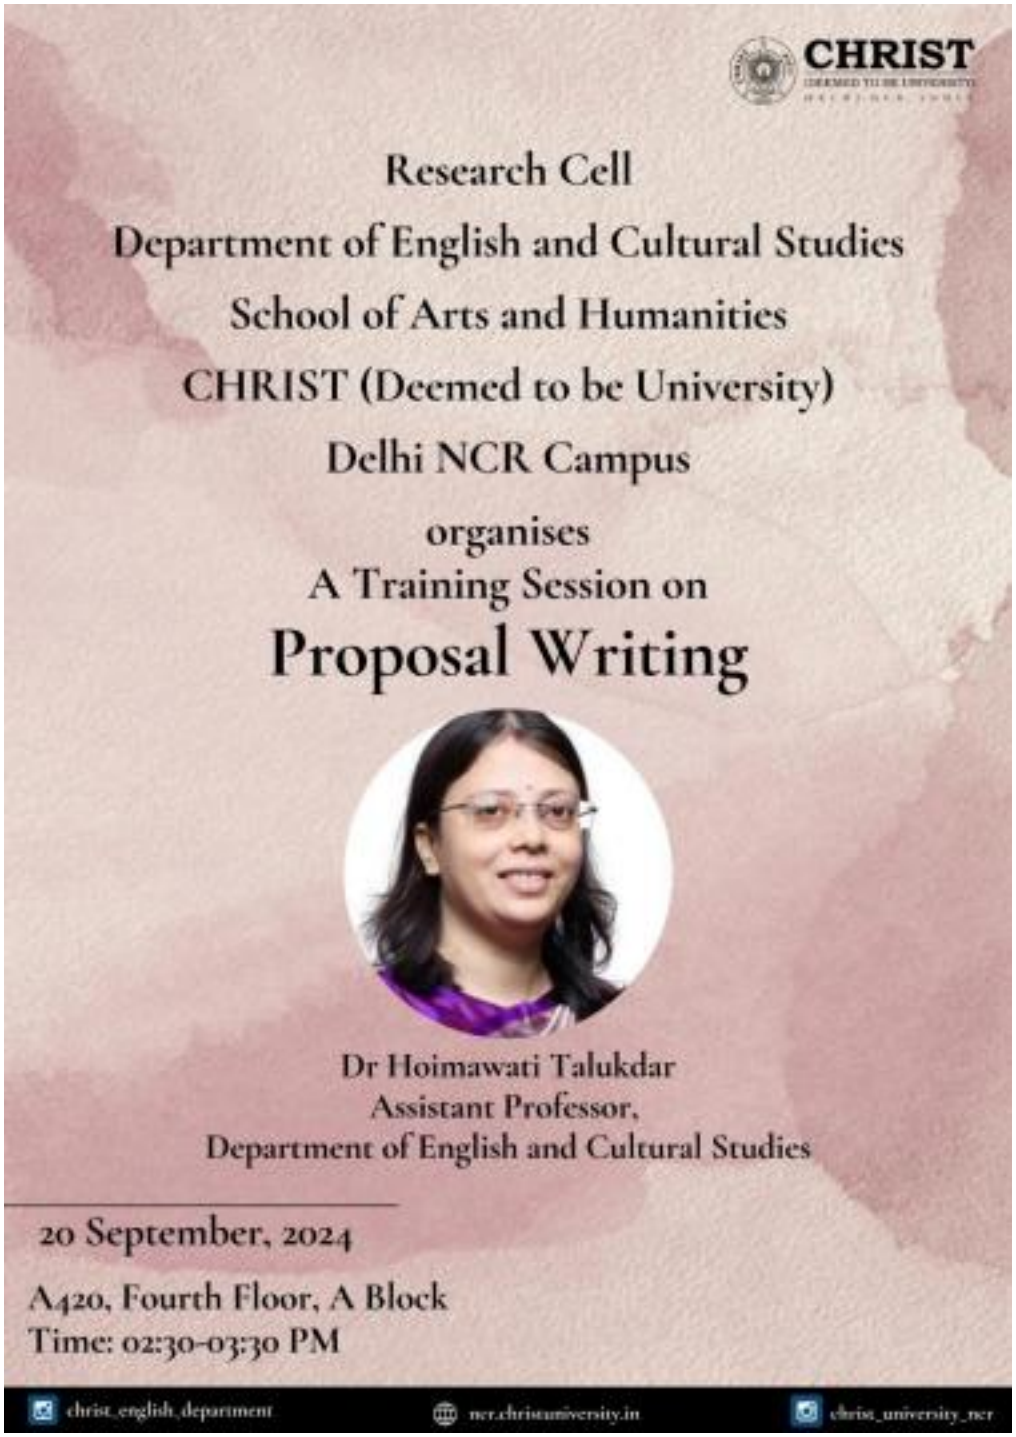

Key Takeaway 1: Clarity and Precision: Avoid ambiguity and keep the focus sharp.

Key Takeaway 2: Alignment: Ensure objectives, questions, and thesis statement align throughout the proposal.

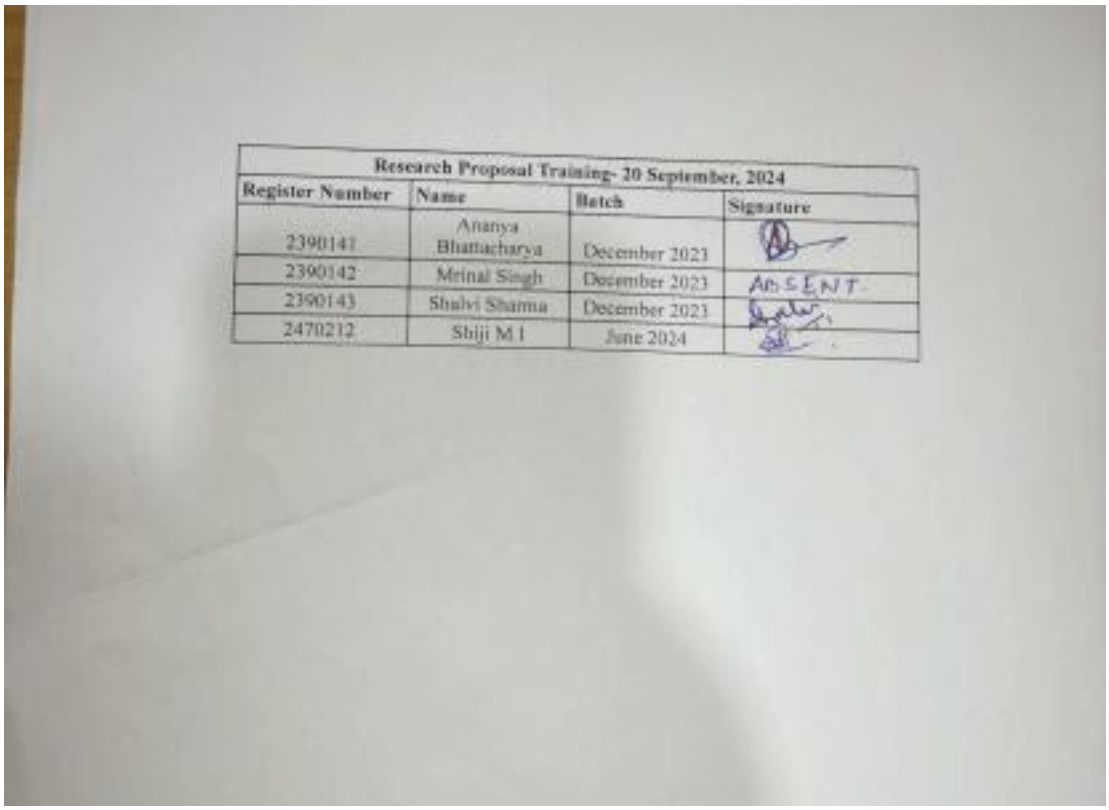

Key Takeaway 3: Focus on Contribution: Emphasize how the research fills a gap or contributes to the field.

Key Takeaway 4: Revise and Refine: Regular revisions will enhance the quality and coherence of the proposal.

Feedback Summary

Participants found the session highly insightful and appreciated Dr. Hoimawati's clear and practical strategies for proposal writing. The emphasis on aligning research objectives, questions, and gaps with the thesis statement resonated well with attendees. Many highlighted the usefulness of tips on developing measurable objectives and identifying research gaps effectively through literature reviews. Participants also valued the focus on maintaining clarity, coherence, and logical flow throughout the proposal. Overall, the session was praised for its engaging delivery and practical relevance.

Impact Analysis:

The session had a significant impact on participants' approach to research proposal writing. It enhanced their understanding of crafting focused and original proposals, addressing gaps meaningfully, and formulating concise thesis statements. Attendees reported increased confidence in structuring their proposals with clearer objectives and well-framed research questions. The practical tips on language precision and revision practices are expected to improve the quality and coherence of future proposals, leading to more impactful research projects with stronger academic contributions.
