| Description | Director, Fr. Jiby Jose, and Dean, Dr. Raghunandan Kumar, School of Engineering and Technology, addressed the new joinees, providing valuable insights into the core values, beliefs, rules, and regulations that guide the functioning of Christ University. They emphasized the importance of upholding the institution's ethos and contributing positively to its academic and professional environment. They also highlighted how each campus has its own distinct structure, identity, and growth trajectory while remaining aligned with the university's overall vision and mission. |
| Impact      | The orientation also introduced faculty members to grievance redressal mechanisms, counselling support services, POSH guidelines, anti-ragging initiatives, and mentoring practices. Interactive discussions and a knowledge-based quiz encouraged active participation and reinforced understanding of key institutional procedures. Overall, the session enabled the newly joined faculty to gain clarity regarding their roles and responsibilities while fostering a supportive and inclusive academic environment.                                                                     |

Event Description

The Human Resources (HR) Department, in coordination with the Dean's Office, organized the programme. Ms. Smitha Keeran Warriar, Senior Counsellor, Centre for Counselling & Health Services (CCHS), conducted the session on "Beyond Teaching – New Teaching Faculty Orientation" for newly appointed faculty members of CHRIST (Deemed to be University). The programme aimed to familiarize faculty with the University's ethos, academic environment, institutional policies, and expectations.
